

CHAPTER TWO: THE BREAK ROOM COUP

BARON VON GRIME

SAME SURFACES. DIFFERENT VILLAIN.

NEGLECT ALWAYS PAYS DIVIDENDS.

He arrived as a spill somebody promised to wipe up after the meeting.

By Wednesday the microwave door was his. By Friday, the keyboards had surrendered.

Staff stopped eating at their desks. Nobody could say exactly why.

The Baron thrives on skipped touchpoints and half-hearted wipe-downs.

A proper office clean took the counters, the appliances and every handle he held.

HOW IT ENDS

Office cleaning on a schedule leaves him no surface to colonise. The break room smells like a break room again.

SAME CITY. CLEANER TOMORROW.